

Take of the green

We all know how important saving money can be these days and the image of a piggy bank serves to remind us of this. But did you know that by saving the “right” stuff you can also turn the pig green? When you save energy or natural resources or when you reuse something instead of simply replacing it with something else, you’re saving in a different way – a green way.

The Green Pig therefore, is a reminder to the campus community to save in a different way. So when you see tips posted around campus bearing the Green Pig icon, you’ll recognize it as just a reminder to you to live and promote a greener, more sustainable lifestyle.

Wear those Green Pig buttons around campus because you never know when you could get a piggy payoff in the form of a greenback!
